‘Delaware Community Coalition’ Sets Goals

Police, churches, groups want to improve relationships, change future in a positive way

DELAWARE – For the past two months, the Delaware community has joined together to talk and create relationships to better address the issues of police, race and community. We have decided collectively that we can best address these issues through communication, action and relationship building.

We are pleased to introduce the Delaware Community Coalition - a collaboration of churches, police, and community with a mutual desire to make a change in Delaware. We are committed to working together improve relationships that will impact the future of the entire community in a positive way. Our goals are set forth below:

1. Improving Relationships

Sub Goal #1: Investment in Neighborhoods: Community and police working together to establish informal relationships to build trust and teamwork.

Sub Goal #2: Change Perceptions: Police and Minority populations educate each other to better understand each other’s experiences. Be together as leaders to set a good example.

2. Improve the Future

Sub Goal #1: Youth: Make in impact on youth at an early age, to encourage our youth to be the best they can be.

Sub Goal #2: Minority Recruitment: Work with the community to encourage and enable minority youths to successfully compete for a local law enforcement position.

Please continue to check back for additional information about activities, programs and meetings in the coming months.
