Residents Sought for Strategic Planning Department Project

DELAWARE – Do you want to help shape the future of Delaware?

The City of Delaware is about to undertake an ambitious long-range planning effort to establish a vision and policies for how and where the city will grow and change over the next decades. It is looking for community members to join a steering committee that will help guide the creation of a Comprehensive Plan. Residents of Delaware, or those who work, own property or a business, or represent an organization in the city, and are at least 16 years old, are encouraged to apply.

An online application form and more information can be found here:

“The Comprehensive Plan reflects current trends and priorities but is focused on the future,” Planning and Community Development Director Dave Efland said.

Delaware is accepting applications to serve on the steering committee through May 7. There is more information on the project on the homepage at delawareohio.net
