Request For Qualifications / Proposal (RFQ/P)

The City of Delaware seeks responses from qualified consultants for the purposes of preparing, reviewing, and filing all necessary documents for CDBG Economic Development (ED) Revolving Loan Fund (RLF) applications. The selected firm shall be valid for the calendar year 2018, although the City reserves the right to evaluate each loan on a case-by-case basis, evaluate the services being provided by the selected firm on an on-going basis, and to cancel services at any time.

Introduction

The City of Delaware offers a well-maintained community, supported by consistent resident and visitor traffic. It features a solid manufacturing base and government offices balanced by a private university and charming downtown business district. This vibrant City has established itself as a place where both traditional and entrepreneurial businesses can flourish. Opening in Fall 2018, the Delaware Entrepreneurial Center is a first-of-its-kind collaboration among Ohio Wesleyan University (OWU), Delaware County, and the City of Delaware creating a business accelerator and education center on the OWU campus. It will include rentable office spaces, a shared work area for center members, a conference center with digital meeting capabilities, and educational programming to support entrepreneurial understanding and success. The Center is the nation's first such collaboration amongst a small liberal arts university and the surrounding city and county.

Community Background

Established in 1808, the City turns 210 years old in 2018. As a mature Central Ohio city, Delaware has evolved into one of Ohio's premier communities. It has about 2,000 businesses of all types and is home to City and County governments, and encompassing part or all of two school districts – Delaware City Schools and Olentangy Local School District.

It has almost 2,000 acres of yet-to-be developed industrial and business parks, a municipal airport, and a full range of municipal services, including water (7.2 million gallons a day), sanitary sewer (10 MGD), refuse collection, road construction and repair, parks and natural resources, and fire and police. Based on building permits, Delaware's current population estimate is 39,348. This represents a 13-percent increase since the 2010 census. We have added 15,000 people since 2000, and now cover over 19 square miles. We expect to reach 40,000 people near the end of 2018 at our current pace - doubling the population since the 1990 census.

Delaware is located about 25 miles north of downtown Columbus. It benefits from a favorable Central Ohio economy, as well as growth in Delaware County and northern Columbus suburbs. The City has almost 15,000 dwelling units, and has experienced a remarkable revival of its historic downtown.
