I bought a house in Delaware 17 years ago. Although my property taxes have significantly increased, I don't see where all that money is being spent. For example, on my City water bill, I am charged $2.50 every month for a storm drain that I do NOT have. Over the 17 years I've paid for this each and every month, I still don't have a storm drain. When it rains, the water pools on the sidewalk in front of my house. I've measured it as high as 5.5 inches. It also pools on the street. I've called and written letters to the City more times than I can count. I was actually promised a storm drain by 2004. It's very aggravating that this still hasn't happened.

Delaware is a nice town to live in, but the condition of the roadways continue to deteriorate every year, and traffic congestion (regardless of all of the planning for the past 20 years) is really bad. In the 15 years I've resided in Delaware, very few improvements have been made!
