For the most part, we have been happy with Delaware Parks. Some, however, seem sadly neglected to the point of being unsafe. For example, Nottingham Park has a structure for smaller children that is missing an entire side, leaving a gaping hole for small ones to fall out of. It also needs new mulch to help fill in the massive puddles that begin to form when it rains.

Was at Mingo last week and the playground had weeds over a foot tall with a ton of bugs in them. I took pics because I was shocked that it looked like that. They playground also has seen better days. Prefer the Dino park but it's so overcrowded now with all the daycare busses and new houses popping up.
